CIRCULAR MEMO, 19*th August* 1875.

With a view to prevent unnecessary correspondence between the Deputy Commissioner and his Police Assistant, and to facilitate the despatch of work in the District Police Office, the following arrangement are ordered :—

I. All reports, diaries and other references from Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors and other Police Officers should be sent direct to the Police Assistant Commissioner, who will pass his orders in all matters connected with the interior economy and discipline of the Police force, punctual submission of diaries, and regular discharge by officers and men of their respective duties.

II. It is sufficient if only such diaries as contain important matter are passed on to the Deputy Commissioner.

III. Nominations to appointments and promotions in the force should be made in consultation with the Police Assistant, and all recommendation rolls requiring the sanction of the Inspector General should be prepared in the Police Assistant's Office.

IV. Applications for leave for Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors for whatever period it may be, and application for Jamedars and Daffedars for leave exceeding 8 or 15 days respectively, should be submitted for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner with the Police Assistant's remarks thereon. The Police Assistant may however on emergency grant 3 days' leave to an Inspector, &c., in anticipation of the sanction of the Deputy Commissioner. Applications for leave by Constables may generally (subject to the general control of the Deputy Commissioner) be disposed of by the Assistant Commissioner; care being taken that the number on leave in each taluk does not exceed [illegible] per cent, and the period of

V. All special diaries, progress reports, returns, &c., should be checked by the Police Assistant Commissioner and necessary orders may be passed by him; only such as call for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner being sent to that Officer.

VI. All papers to be submitted to the Inspector General should be prepared in the Office of the Police Assistant, such as are important, viz., reports of heinous offences, weekly progress reports of Division, Assistant's diaries, &c., being laid before the Deputy Commissioner prior to transmission; the Assistant Commissioner signing all other returns to, and carrying on correspondence of a routine nature with, the Deputy Inspector General direct.

VII. The whole of the Police records both in the Vernacular and in English should be kept in the Office of the Assistant Commissioner and can always be inspected by the Deputy Commissioner, to whom the whole Police Office Establishment is subordinate: but it should be kept as a separate Department under the Deputy Commissioner and not be placed under the Daffedars or English or any other Department. Correspondence between the Police Assistant and the Deputy Commissioner should as much as possible be discouraged, and whatever correspondence there may be relating to any matter connected with Police should invariably be kept with the records of the Police Department and no where else.

VIII. The Police Assistant Commissioner may, subject to the general control of the Deputy Commissioner, fine Constables to the extent of a 4th of their pay for neglect of duty, noting the same in his weekly diary. All cases requiring fine exceeding that amount, and every case of neglect on the part of Daffedars and Inspectors requiring departmental punishment, should be submitted for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner.

X. The Assistant Commissioner may, as occasion requires, transfer Constables and Daffedars from Taluk to another, noting his reason for the same in his weekly diary for sanction of the Deputy Commissioner.

The Assistant Commissioner should submit for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner all cases regarding suspension and dismissal of all ranks in the Police force.

The Assistant Commissioner should get the sanction of the Deputy Commissioner for all punishments, opening an Order Book for the same, as per form A. attached to this memo. In this Book all matters requiring the orders of the Deputy Commissioner should also be entered.
